Youth participate in procession of witness

Two North Bay ladies receive appreciation tokens

Two members of the Henrietta Sharvell Group of the Church of St. John the Divine were presented with scrolls to mark 29 years of service with the group. The Rev. Canon C. F. Large, Rector of St. John's, made the presentations at a meeting recently to Mrs. Fred Cliffe (left) and Mrs. N. S. Phillips (right). The first meeting was at the home of Mrs. Phillips when the ladies attending brought along their children. This was in 1944 when the Rev. W. W. Jarvis organized them, and the name chosen some time later was for Mrs. Sharvell who was a devoted worker, along with her husband, in the Church. Permission was given to use the name, by Mrs. Sharvell's daughter, who lives in Sault Ste. Marie.

Delegates from Algoma attend 18th provincial synod at Queen's University site

The Diocese of Algoma was represented by five clerical and five lay members at the Fall Provincial Synod, held on the campus of Queen's University, September 5-6; the Synod was presided over by Archbishop W. L. Wright, Archbishop of Algoma and Metropolitan of Ontario.

Clerical delegates include the following: the Very Rev. F. F. Nock; the Rev. D. M. Landon; the Ven. S. M. Craymer; the Rev. Canon J. F. Hinchliffe; and the Rev. W. R. Stadnyk.

Lay delegates eligible are the following: Mr. D. M. Lawson, Q.C. (Ex-officio); Mr. W. Kosny; Dr. D. H. Gould; Mr. E. P. Lee, Q.C.; Mr. W. M. Wadley, and Mr. D. Cowcill.

The Convening Circular indicated a fair amount of business confronted the Synod, which was last held at Barrie in 1970. It included consideration of a variety of reports from the Committee on Diocesan Boundaries, Ministry in Recreation Areas, Native Ministries, and Christian Education.

Individual discussion groups were convened on the general theme, "Proclamation of the Faith Today", following a four-part presentation: the INDIVIDUAL, by Dr. Harley Smyth; the PARISH, by the Rev. R. W. Prendergast, St. George's, Hamilton; the CHARISMATIC MOVEMENT, by the Rev. F. H. S. Cooper, St. James', Toronto; and the DIOCESE, by the Rt. Rev. L. S. Garnsworthy, Toronto.

The Metropolitan's charge was a feature, and was delivered on the opening morning by the Most Rev. W. L. Wright, of Algoma, who has served as Metropolitan since 1955.

While most of the sessions were held at McArthur Hall, including the morning services of Holy Communion and Morning Prayer, the delegates travelled by bus to St. George's Cathedral for Festival Evensong on the first day of the meetings.

This was, in a sense, a sort of homecoming for Archbishop Wright, who was made a deacon at St. George's on Sept. 4, 1926, and priested there on Sept. 11, 1927, by the Rt. Rev. C. A. Seager, then Bishop of Ontario, and later Bishop of Huron.

Let's hear from YOU

For the past few months, the Diocese of Algoma has been joyfully and thankfully celebrating its 100th anniversary. Throughout the diocese, parishes and groups have been active with events of every kind—worship, ecumenical gatherings, a house of prayer, tree-planting, quilt-making, dances, garden parties, special camp activities, and historically-oriented speakers and costumes. These have been reported in the ALGOMA ANGLICAN.

Such activities will continue and reach a climax on Sunday, October 28, at 2 p.m., with the Great Service of Thanksgiving and Rededication, in the Sault Ste. Marie Armoury. Other celebratory events are planned for that weekend in the "Soo" as well. These will be reported in the ALGOMA ANGLICAN.

The ALGOMA ANGLICAN plans to centre its next few issues around the preparations for and reports about the Centennial Week-end and the Synod Meeting. We would like to hear about your parish's preparations for and involvement in these two events. Any photographs of happenings will be gratefully received.

The ALGOMA ANGLICAN dedicates its next few issues to the hope that our Centennial Celebrations may allow us "to become more truly what we already are: the People of God, that new Creation in Christ, which finds its joy in adoration of the Creator and Redeemer of all". That is what rededication and thanksgiving are all about.

Let's hear from you and about your part in the Centennial Celebrations!

Let's celebrate!

You guessed it!

Last month

Many readers wrote in and correctly identified the cleric on the right hand side of the photo—the Rev. W. L. Wright, Curate of Christ Church Cathedral in Hamilton. The bishop seated in the centre of the photo was the Rt. Rev. L. Broughall, then Bishop of Niagara, and standing on his other side was the Rev. Canon C. E. Riley, one-time rector of St. George's, St. Catharines, and later Dean of Christ Church Cathedral. The picture was taken in 1933.

This month

This month, the ALGOMA ANGLICAN features a modern Centennial Photo—one of His Grace, in a familiar pose, signing a prayer book following a Confirmation service. This one was taken this spring at the parish of St. Stephen-the-Martyr, in Thunder Bay.

Some readers might like to estimate the number of people Archbishop Wright has confirmed in his 29 years as Diocesan in Algoma. Please send your guess to The Editor, the ALGOMA ANGLICAN, Box 1028, Espanola.

The archbishop's letter

Beginning again

My dear people:

Life is filled with fresh beginnings; the key is in beginning again. Indeed, it can be said from one point of view that this is what the Christian life is all about—it is being willing to begin again. So often we respond to God out of some deep experience and promise to lead a new life with His help.

Then we forget His help and fail. This is the crucial point. We can give up in despair or we can begin again. It is the starting afresh patiently and in good cheer and hope that is the mark of the Christian.

One of the most helpful definitions of Christianity is this: The Christian life is a series of new beginnings. The only sin God cannot deal with is the sin of giving up.

When we throw up our hands (or our faith) and feel that we are on a tread mill, it may be time to turn to God with the spontaneous prayer, "Help me", or "Forgive me", or just simply, "God, I'm here; I want to start afresh". This is to begin again.

On the other end of the scale, God can do nothing when we believe we have all the answers and have all God's help we need. This is the sin of pride. God cannot break through this sin until we finally turn to Him and say: "I am sorry; forgive me; give me another chance."

Then we can begin again and enter once more with the joy of an open, clean relationship with God, knowing ourselves to be forgiven sinners, and, therefore, confidently beginning again a new life with Him.

The crux of the matter is this—as His servants we acknowledge ourselves for what we are, weak human beings, trying to lead our lives as we believe God wants us to, but falling down periodically and failing frequently in even the simplest of moral acts.

The power that tempts us to failure, to life away from God is so strong that we deliberately adopt some rule by which we try to direct our lives. We must have a Rule of Life; otherwise, we are not surprised when we fail, or become discouraged for we know this is what we might expect without God's help. Therefore, we simply tell God that we are sorry and we begin again.

This time, perhaps, we remain faithful to our Rule of Life one day longer, and we thank God for the added help He has given us. And we begin in the next stage the next day. But whether we succeed for periods or stumble day by day, we always keep our direction toward God by our Rule of Life.

When we succeed, we praise God. When we fail, we tell God that we are sorry. Then we pick ourselves up and begin again.

Always we go on our way rejoicing—confident, hopeful and encouraged. This is the wave length we must tune in on, and thus, the Presence of Christ becomes real to us. It is this conviction that gives confidence, lustre, and power to our life.

There is nothing new in this, but it is a reality. With all the problems of our age, this is our hope. We can say with Augustine: "Now, therefore, my brethren, let us sing, not for our delight as we rest, but to cheer us in our labour. As wayfarers are wont to sing, sing, but keep on marching."

This will give us renewed zeal and confidence. If you find yourself slipping, experience the joy of beginning again.

You are never alone.

Your friend
and archbishop,

William L. Wright

William Wadley reports executive meeting

Preparations for 26th Synod

Only 16 of the 32 members of the executive were able to attend the pre-summer meeting held on Tuesday, June 26 at St. John's, Sault Ste. Marie.

Sometime after the date was set and advance notices sent out, it was learned that the Archbishop had been invited as a head table guest to the State Dinner in Toronto the same evening, given by the province in honour of the visit of H.R.H. Queen Elizabeth, and the Duke of Edinburgh.

As a result, Archbishop Wright was able to honour both commitments by flying down on the afternoon Air Canada flight, and by having the Dean preside for the second half of the meeting.

The members present considered a wide variety of important matters and prepared a number of recommendations for this fall's diocesan synod, including:

APPROVAL of the 1974 diocesan operating budget of some $250,000, of which about $150,000 will be required to be raised at the parish level, by way of 'Diocesan Expense Fund Assessments', and 'Algoma Mission Fund Apportionments'.

PROVISION for 7% increases in minimum clergy stipends—1973, $5,250; 1974, $5,600; and 1975, $6,000.

INTRODUCTION of principle of experience allowances to supplement these minimums in 1974 by $150 for clergy with over 30 years' service.

INSTITUTION of temporary grants-in-aid to three border-line parishes, coupled with a program of increasing local awareness and response in these points.

PEGGING at $4,000 for 1974, the diocesan grant for operating needs of Thorneloe University, Sudbury—compared with a $5,000 subsidy in 1973, and $10,000 in 1972.

RATIFICATION of local property requests or loan fund advances for congregations in Thunder Bay, Sault Ste. Marie, Blind River and Sudbury.

RECENT notification of bequests-to-come for St. Faith's, Charlton, and St. James', Gravenhurst.

APPROVAL of offers to buy former church properties at The Slash, Manitoulin Island, and at Chamberlain, near Englehart.

ESTABLISHMENT of working committees for the forthcoming diocesan centennial service at the Sault Ste. Marie Armoury at 2:00 p.m. on Sunday, October 28, and for the 26th Synod.

ARRANGEMENTS for a final meeting (before Synod) in North Bay, Sept. 19.

The Rev. Tony Whyham

Archbishop Wright paid tribute to Fr. Whyham: "Father Whyham possessed a delightful personality; he was an outstanding preacher, and at all times was most loyal to the Bishop of the Diocese. I miss him, and trust that all those who received his ministrations will thankfully remember him in their prayers."

Mrs. H. D. Merriman

A well-known resident of North Bay, Mrs. Harry D. Merriman, died in May of this year at the age of 76. The Rev. David Smith, assisted by the Rev. Canon B. G. Gosse, conducted the funeral service at St. Brice's Church; interment was at Terrace Lawn Cemetery.

Desbarats church is re-opened

On July 1, 1973, the Church of the Holy Saviour, Main Street in Desbarats, once again opened its doors for regular services. During the years it was not used, the interior of the building experienced some vandalism, but was cleaned by the parishioners. A further parish meeting in September will plan future improvements.

The parish is in need of Anglican Prayer and Hymn Books and any parishes able to supply these should contact the Incumbent, the Rev. C. Hornett, 17 Park East, Box 88, Thessalon. The rectory telephone number is (Thessalon) 842-2206.

Letter to the Editor

"Thank you", Jean!

To the Editor: Thank you for the excellent coverage which you gave the Diocesan ACW Annual, in the July-August ALGOMA ANGLICAN.

If the correspondent for those reports was Mrs. Jean Koning, we women owe her a word of real appreciation for a reporting job well done. We thank her too for making much of the news possible.

As Diocesan ACW Communications Chairman, she keeps women well-informed through both the "ACW Newsletter" and the ALGOMA ANGLICAN. Her help, both before and during the Annual, was most invaluable.

Long may we have her good services to help us keep our lines of communication open.

(Mrs.) Amy Wadley (Ed. Note: The correspondent was Jean, and I second your motion for an expression of gratitude. I also want to thank her husband, the Rev. Tony Koning, for supplying the photos for that coverage.)

Mrs. Wright expresses appreciation

Dear Anglican Church Women of Algoma:

The gift given to me at the Annual Meeting of the Anglican Church Women in our Centenary year was such a special and meaningful one that I find it difficult to say an adequate thank you. In itself it is a work of art, and I hope many of you will see it at some future time.

To Mrs. Wadley and the Diocesan Executive who originated the plan, to Muriel Newton-White whose artistic gifts made it a thing of beauty, and to Mrs. Davis of Huntsville who accepted the responsibility of organizing the making of the blocks, the quilting and the completion of the quilt, to all I am most grateful. As I had a quilt-making mother and grandmothers I fully appreciate the hours of work it has all entailed.

The gift became so much more personal when each Church had its name embroidered by one of its own members making the quilt a work of many hands. I would like to mention the ecumenical touch in the assistance Mrs. Davis had from women of other churches in the quilting.

As it is a gift from you all—the women of Algoma—given in a loving but truly artistic creation, will you each accept my personal and affectionate thanks.

Your friend,
Margaret Wright.

Thunder Bay summer wedding

Capt. and Mrs. Earnest Scriver

Capt. Earnest Scriver and Miss Charlene Stephens were married in St. Thomas', Thunder Bay, on August 4, at 12 noon. Many members of the congregation attended the service, and the choir participated, wearing for the first time, the new gowns that had recently been purchased.

Until the end of July, Capt. Scriver had been the Parish Assistant at St. Thomas', and, as of September 1, he will become the Assistant to the Rev. Victor Morse, of St. George's in Peterborough, Ontario.

Mrs. Scriver is a former member of St. Thomas' youth singing group, the FELLOWSHIP, organized by Capt. Scriver. Charlene was honoured on June 24 by the presentation of the Girls' Auxiliary Ring of Honour.

At the July 29 reception for Capt. Scriver, several presentations were made: a silver tray by the Rector's Warden, Mr. S. Turner; a wall clock by the People's Warden, Mr. L. Koza; and a purse of money by the Rector, the Ven. E. Roy Haddon.

The best wishes of the Diocese of Algoma are extended to this popular young couple as they begin their work in Peterborough.

100-mile camping and canoe trip

On Sunday, June 17, 1973, the Rev. Lloyd S. Hoover, rector of the parish of Sundridge, along with 11 boys from the Deanery of Muskoka, set out from Sundridge for Round Lake in Algonquin Park, to begin a canoe trip of some 100 miles. They camped that night at Round Lake; on the following day, they continued across the lake, down part of the Amable du Fond River, through Tee Lake to Wilkes Lake where they stayed for the night.

On Tuesday, the group left their equipment behind and paddled to Kiosk, a small saw-mill town. This involved a round trip of some 35 miles.

The following day was spent fishing and swimming. On Thursday night, they camped at Tee Lake, and on Friday returned to Round Lake.

The weather during the trip was good, as it only rained on one day.

Linden tree marks diocesan centennial

On May 27, to mark the Centenary of the Anglican Diocese of Algoma, a linden tree was planted on the church lawn of St. John's, in New Liskeard. On that Rogation Sunday the congregation followed the choir out of the church, and gathered around the tree for a short ceremony of blessing, led by the Rector, the Rev. Henry Morrow, (second from the right). Others in the photo, from left are Miss Ida Hilson, Mrs. Edith Morrow, Norman Salisbury, Mrs. Lillian Barrett, Canon H. A. Sims, and Frank Joy.

'Integration' is the word for ACW

(Ed. Note: The national meeting of the ACW was held in Ottawa on June 4, 5, and 6. Voting delegates from the Diocese of Algoma were Mrs. A. Allen (Treasurer of the Algoma Diocesan ACW, from Sault Ste. Marie), Mrs. R. Stark (President of the Algoma Diocesan ACW, from Englehart), and Mrs. T. Koning (Diocesan ACW Communications Chairman, from Englehart).

Also in attendance were Archbishop and Mrs. W. L.

Wright; Mrs. Ina Priddle (a former President of the Diocesan ACW, from Sault Ste. Marie); Mrs. C. T. Best (from Sault Ste. Marie). It might be noted that Mrs. Wright, Mrs. Priddle, and Mrs. Best are all W.A. Life Members.

Others who attended were the Rev. and Mrs. R. A. Locke, of Gravenhurst; Mrs. J. McAlpine (Algoma Deanery ACW Vice-Chairman, from Sault Ste. Marie);

Mrs. Muriel Hooper (Muskoka Deanery Devotions Chairman, from Bracebridge); Miss Evelyn Valley (Christ Church ACW contact person, from Englehart). The Rev. T. Koning (of Englehart), and Valerie Koning attended the final Eucharist service.

Printed below is an article by Mrs. Amy Wadley in an attempt to explain integration of women into the work of the Anglican Church.)

by Amy Wadley

The ACW recently announced completion of plans to integrate with their Church's General Synod. ACW no longer exists as a separate national organization.

The June meeting held on the campus of Carleton University saw the end of a national organization born only five years ago. Anglican Church Women was the extension of a much older group known as the Women's Auxiliary to the Anglican Church of Canada.

The young organization, known as ACW, began in 1968, and was, in fact, a transitional stage. It bridged two ideas. From 1885 to 1968 many women worked for missions as members of the WA. Others worked in Altar Guilds; still others joined parish guilds to raise money for their own local church. Mothers' Union claimed the allegiance of others. In 1968, an effort was made to bring all church women into a single organization, and to accept as members all baptized women attending the Anglican Church.

The ultimate goal of this move, at the national level, was to integrate women's work with the general work of the Church. It was hoped that integration would take place at all levels. The National Board of ACW intended to lead the way.

By the fall of 1971, most of the ground work had been laid for the phasing out of ACW. The presidents of almost every diocesan ACW were present at this meeting in St. John's, Newfoundland. It was their duty to go back to their dioceses and inform women of the plans.

When the ACW of the Diocese of Algoma met in May, 1973 (see ALGOMA ANGLICAN, July-August), very little mention needed to be made about national integration; it was an accomplished fact.

In her address to the 150 delegates and observers in the Sault, Diocesan President Mrs. Dorene Stark of Englehart, commented: "The question that I am asked most often is, 'How will integration at the national level affect us'. My answer is 'Not very much.'"

Will this diocese integrate? A few years ago five dioceses accepted the challenge to integrate; their first progress-reports are now in. There has been enough concern about these reports to warrant the National ACW President to suggest that the other 23 dioceses wait and see how integration at the national level works out before going ahead.

Mrs. Angus Allen, Diocesan ACW Treasurer, suggested that the most obvious change is in the way money will reach mission projects.

Formerly, it went to the National ACW Treasurer, who sent it directly to projects sponsored by the ACW, or indirectly through the treasurer of General Synod, to projects supported by the church as a whole. General Synod has now accepted (as the governing body of the Anglican Church of Canada) responsibility for ACW projects, and all monies from Diocesan ACW's will go directly to the Treasurer of General Synod.

Women of the Diocese of Algoma will continue to work for their church. Older women will probably follow the traditional avenues of service. Many women, both young and old, already serve in community service projects as a part of their Christian witness. A few women have entered roles once associated only with men. For example, Mrs. Lois Stanton is a Church Warden of St. Luke's Cathedral in Sault Ste. Marie. Women serve on advisory boards at the parish level, and on synods at the diocesan level.

Really, "plus ça change, plus c'est la même". For in the early church, men and women worked together as a single unit.

Around Algoma . . .

The Chimes which were dedicated at the Church of the Epiphany in Sudbury on June 10 are to mark the Centennial of the Diocese, and a plaque to that effect has been placed in the Belfry. . . . On June 9, Holy Trinity in the Sault held a "Garden Party" to help celebrate the Diocesan Centennial; Centennial costumes were worn. . . . This summer the Rev. Robert Brown, Honorary-Assistant at St. Paul's in Thunder Bay, spent six weeks at the University of Manitoba taking two graduate courses to complete requirements for his B.Ed. degree. . . . Any Algoma people, who may have been parishioners of All Saints' Cathedral in Edmonton, are asked to send their present mailing address so that they may receive information concerning the Cathedral's Centenary in the fall of 1975. . . . Christ Church, Englehart, held an "Auction Sale" in June with Mr. 'Bud' Colquhoun as a very lively and effective auctioneer; proceeds amounted to over $360. . . . The Rural Dean of Algoma, the Rev. E. B. Paterson, of St. Matthew's in the Sault, has sent a letter to all parishes inviting them to participate in the activities the Deanery has planned for the Centennial Weekend in October. These include a Gala Anglican Dance on the evening of Friday, October 26, at the Sault Ste. Marie Armouries, local Community events, displays, and tours. It looks like the Host Deanery is going to make this week-end a memorable and enjoyable one. . . . The best wishes of the Diocese go to the Rev. Canon J. F. Hinchliffe of Lively who has been suffering from an arthritic problem, and has spent some time in Wellesley Hospital in Toronto. . . . On Sunday, June 17, the parish of St. John's in the Sault welcomed the Ven. C. B. Noble and the parishioners of St. Peter's, the daughter parish of St. John's. Archdeacon Noble was the celebrant at the Eucharist and Fr. F. C. Coyle (rector of St. John's) was the preacher as the two parishes celebrated together their common joy in the blessing of Almighty God on this Diocese through a hundred years. . . . The Rev. Canon H. A. Sims was in charge of St. John's, New Liskeard, while the rector, the Rev. H. Morrow and his family were on holiday. . . . A reception was held on Friday, June 15, from 8 to 10 p.m. in honour of the Rev. Canon and Mrs. Alvin J. Thomson, formerly of St. John's, Thunder Bay. Fr. Thomson has just retired after 16 years at St. John's; the Thomsons will continue to reside in Thunder Bay. . . . St. Thomas', Thunder Bay, welcomed the Very Rev. J. A. E. Hoskin, the Dean of Athabasca and Rector of St. James Cathedral in Peace River, Alberta, as guest preacher at the Morning Service on July 22. The Dean and Mrs. Hoskin were present for the marriage of Andy Hoskin, a member of St. Thomas' Choir, and of the FELLOWSHIP, a youth singing group. . . . While the Rev. F. C. Coyle, of St. John's, Sault Ste. Marie, was on holiday this summer, the Rev. Eugene Loughran of Brackenridge, Pennsylvania, was in charge of the parish. . . . The Diocese extends its best wishes to the Rev. Canon H. W. Garbutt, who has been a patient in Sunnybrook Hospital, having undergone an operation on his hip. . . . St. Paul's, Thunder Bay, operated its ice-cream stand at the Murillo Fair, August 4-5, with funds going to their Organ Fund. . . . On June 10, Holy Trinity Church in Sault Ste. Marie, dedicated 250 copies of the New Hymn Book to the glory of God, and in loving memory of Marguerite Mary Miller; they were given by Mrs. Miller's husband, Merritt, and their daughter, Shirley. . . . Mr. Robert E. Cantwell, III, a lawyer from Chicago, and summer resident of McGregor Bay, acted as Archbishop Wright's chaplain during His Grace's episcopal visit to St. Christopher's Community Church in McGregor Bay. During that visit, the parish celebrated the 100th anniversary of the Diocese, the 22nd anniversary of St. Christopher's, the 37th wedding anniversary of Archbishop and Mrs. Wright (July 30), and Mrs. Wright's birthday (July 31). . . . The Rev. H. Morrow, rector of St. John's in New Liskeard, attended an International Kiwanis Conference at Montreal during a June week-end. . . . The Multiple Sclerosis Society of Canada is having a national day of prayer on September 17. The Lakehead Chapter is supplying church bulletins to all churches from Thunder Bay, to Kenora, and to Manitowadge. . . . St. Thomas', Thunder Bay, had a successful Vacation Bible School during July, with over 100 pupils attending. . . . Miss Debbie Coyle, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. F. C. Coyle (St. John's, Sault Ste. Marie), recently graduated from St. Mary's School of Nursing, Kitchener, Ontario. The Coyles spent some time in Kitchener for the end-of-training and graduation activities. Fr. Coyle was the guest speaker at a Parent-Daughter Banquet of the Graduating Class, held at the Walper Hotel in Kitchener. A parishioner sent roses to the rector with best wishes for his address, and the congregation sent a telegram to Debbie. While the Coyles were away, Mr. William Wadley, Diocesan Secretary-Treasurer, filled in at services for both St. John's, Garden River, and in the Sault. . . . The sympathy of the Diocese is extended to the Rev. Canon J. F. Hinchliffe in the sudden death on June 22 in Port Sydney of his sister, Winifred Hinchliffe, in her 73rd year. . . . Mrs. Hilda S. Humphrey, deputy-organist of St. Paul's, Thunder Bay, served as interim organist at St. Luke's during the 12-week hospitalization and convalescence of Mrs. Marion Beecher. . . . Congratulations to two people in Holy Trinity Church in the Sault—Audrey Gaines, who received the Girl Guide Religion and Life Award on June 10; and Brian McCrady, who won the Sir James Dunn Scholarship. . . . Congratulations to St. John's, Sault Ste. Marie, on the first two editions of their very newsy parish newsletter.
