Dear Friends:

On behalf of your sister congregations around the Diocese, I would like to wish you heartiest congratulations as you celebrate and mark your 50th Anniversary.

I especially give thanks that at this moment in history you are experiencing a renewal of your common life and outreach to your neighbourhoods.

I give thanks for all that God has done and is doing in your midst. I pray with you for a bright future of ministry, service, and community, nourished and energized by the life which comes from Christ our Lord.

Warmly,

January 1st, 2000 came and went with anticipation and with controversy. The controversy came with some arguing that the Registration decreed by Emperor Augustus, when Quirinius was governor of Syria, actually occurred between 8 to 5 B.C.E.. If this was the case, then Jesus was born earlier than our calendars record, hence the year 2000 actually came between the years 1992 to 1995.

The anticipation associated with the coming of the year 2000 was mostly surrounding the expected breakdown of our society, beginning with the 'Year 2000 Bug' infecting our technological world and bringing it to a standstill. Many expected that would be followed by a complete and total breakdown of our society.

Fortunately, the 'Bug' never materialized and our society continues on as it had prior to the calendar change. And that is where I wish to focus. The dread that was anticipated with the 'Year 2000 Bug' might have been in the back of our minds, but I believe that we at St. James' anticipated the Year 2000 to bring to us celebration and continued renewal and growth.

This year we celebrate our 50th year of His service in our community. It's an occasion to look back with pride on some powerful and treasured memories. It's also an occasion to celebrate the coming years. It's an opportunity to look forward with vision and faith to the future.

The year 1999 began with a renewal of commitment and faith. New Horizons, new adventures, new possibilities were opened to us. Many in our congregation have found a new attitude, a new discernment of the gifts that they bring to our Church. The Spirit of God is blowing mightily through our parishioners, bringing to our Church new ministries, new involvement, a new attitude. Fear of the unknown has given way to a spirit of excitement and involvement. We have been greatly blessed over this past year with a growing involvement from both new and old parishioner alike. It has been an exciting year with the new millennium bring the anticipation of greater involvement and growth in our Church. Our parish has recognized that we have access to a hope and power far beyond anything this world can imagine: God's presence in our midst; Jesus the Christ and His Holy Spirit. As individuals and as a community we have access to the faith and the power of God.

Through our words and actions, through our prayers and giving we can make a difference in our community. The new millennium calls us to more than just a change of date. It calls us to a change much deeper than that. It calls us to a change of attitude and action as a member of this community. It calls us to accept the challenge that God has set before us and actively working together to bring the parish to New Life in Jesus Christ. And God has the right to expect that from us. We are Christians. We are His creation. We are a people who are called together to be His hands, His presence in the world today. If we are willing to bring what little we have to Jesus and expect the Lord to do wonders in our lives and in this Parish, He will. That's His promise to us, and God is always faithful to His promise. Thanks be to God.

50th Anniversary
St. James Anglican Church
June 2 to 4, 2000

St. James Anglican Church enjoys a rich history in our Region. Over the years, the Church has become an important part of the community, as a place of worship and a place where friends and family gather.

The celebration of this 50th Anniversary is an opportune time to reflect on the past and be proud of the success that St. James Anglican Church has achieved.

Since its inception, St. James has benefitted from the leadership of a number of dedicated people. The Church continues to thrive under the guidance of the Reverend Marty Keatings who joined the parish last year.

Over the years, a series of stained glass windows have been installed in the Church, a lasting legacy of days gone by. The windows are a tribute to Sudbury and its people, an important part of our cultural heritage. They will serve as a wonderful reminder for future generations.

On behalf of The Regional Municipality of Sudbury, I would like to congratulate St. James Anglican Church on its 50th Anniversary.

Best wishes for more success in the years ahead!

Dear Parishioners,

As Mayor of the City of Sudbury, I would like to offer my sincere congratulations to you, as St. James Anglican Church celebrates its 50th anniversary. This is indeed a grand milestone and cause for great celebration.

The ten, beautiful stained glass windows in St. James Anglican Church depict events in Sudbury's history. I hope that all of you will take time to reflect on our past and the important role the church has had in our everyday lives.

Today, the Reverend Marty Keatings and his parishioners offer a warm welcome for the sharing of spiritual and family values. The parish is also dedicated to community work and we thank you for caring.

On behalf of City Council, I would like to extend my congratulations to all those associated with St. James Anglican Church and a special thanks for the contributions made to the community. I wish you many more years of continued spiritual growth.

Yours sincerely,

- 1965 St. James became the first church in the Diocese of Algoma to have a 'free-standing altar' with communion rail in three sides.
Later, the sanctuary was opened and the Narthex expanded and rebuilt to cover the entrance steps. The installation of stained glass windows began.

The '1960s and 1970s were 'booming years of development'. The church boasted an active choir, church school, Junior Auxiliary, Boy's Brigade, Church Boy's League, Servers Guild, Brotherhood of Anglican Church men and a dedicated group of Anglican Church Women.

Time passed, children grew, families moved; activities needed to readjust to changing social times.

Mid 1970s and 1980s-St. James became part of the lakes Parish (the Incumbent shared by French River, Coniston and Minnow Lake).

1990 The first husband and wife clergy team at St. James.

1991 St. James welcomed it's first female Incumbent

As time passes-Incumbents change; the structure of the church building changes; families continue to grow, mature and move about according to their needs; the city in the year 2000 is in a state of major changes as it becomes a 'mega city'

St. James Church remains; a small church situated between two houses on a now busy four lane roadway. In spite of changes within and around it, the church continues to exude an air of peace and dignity. A welcome place for all who wish to attend services, to participate in activities and programs, or who just want a moment of rest.

St. James', Lockerby Anniversary Observed

By Grace E. Farrell

On October 14th, St. James' (Lockerby) celebrated the 40th anniversary of the first service held in the church building. That first service was held in the basement as were all services during the next five years of the church's existence.

Friends and former parishioners joined the congregation for the service of Evensong, under the direction of the Reverend Geoffrey Woodcroft, present incumbents at St. James'. Dinner was served following the service in the newly renovated basement.

Pryce Moorhouse, rector's warden during the early years (1950-1955), was guest speaker recalling some the highlights and some of the difficulties involved in building the church. The Reverend Robert Lumley, former parish priest, explained the significance of the memorial windows. Dr. Winslow Case, lay reader, paid tribute to the many dedicated workers who have labored for St. James' over the years.

The Reverend Jennifer Sisson brought a pleasant evening of fellowship to a close by pronouncing the Benediction.

Letter from:

Colin Clay (Rev. Canon)

"St. James switched from furnace oil to natural gas. There had been an extremely cold winter, with very little snow, the frost went down very deep. The oil tank split underground and leaked it's contents into the ground behind the church, which also happened to be the tile-be for the septic tank. Whenever the toilet was flushed oil would squirt from the ground! (would that a prospector might have come along and made a substantial offer for the land!)"

Letter from:

Colin Clay (Rev. Canon)

"...when George Doolan (later Archdeacon) was at St. James.. a locomotive bell was donated by the CPR to be rung in the 'belfry'. ...the bell was put in place and plans were made for it's dedication at an Easter Vigil Service by Archdeacon Gilbert Thompson. This was one of those evenings when nothing would go right! The Pascal Candle gave out only a mere glimmer of light in spite of all the invocations surrounding it's passage from porch to altar; and at the conclusion of the service, when Archdeacon Thompson dedicated the bell and command that it be rung, the rope jammed! We sang the joyful Te Deum anyway, and as the congrega-
rope, was ringing the bell with enthusiasm and vigor!"

re natural gas concerns...

"When I dismissed the teenage confirmation class one Saturday morning, and returned to the basement hall, I was alarmed by the smell of stale cabbages and promptly phoned the gas company. A team was being dispatched right away! It was then I spotted a small, broken, glass vial on the floor... the notorious 'stink bomb'! I just managed to halt the emergency team from the gas company."

Letter from:

Colin Clay (Rev. Canon)

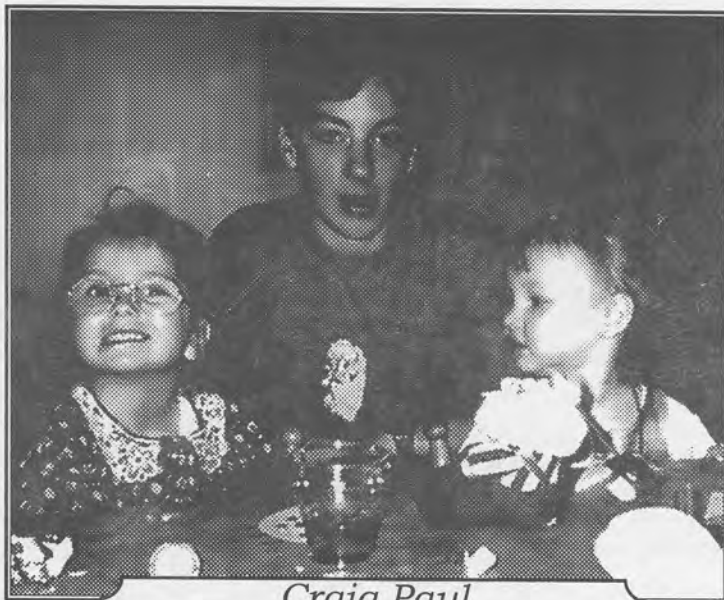

St. James was filled to capacity every Sunday at 10:00am...to eliminate the small office to the right of the altar and to add another archway...the first church in the diocese of Algoma to move the altar away from the wall so the celebrant might face the congregation. The organ and the choir were moved to a place behind the altar so they too now faced the congregation.

A year or two later a wall was removed so that the inside porch became part of the church...practical, but not very aesthetic.

Letter from:

Colin Clay (Rev. Canon)

"When David (Cole) was teaching High School 'shop' his students produced an eye catching sign which stood for a number of years in front of St. James... Known as "the rocket", made of wood and stainless steel, and painted red, blue and silver, it resembled a vehicle about to launch into outer space! later, i had it removed to Western Canada..."

re stained glass windows...

"...Jack Gennings...helped me glue grey painted quarter-round onto a sheet of plain glass, painting the exposed glass with a special colored paint which 'frosted' as it dried, and then covering the existing window with the new sheet of 'stained glass'. (This worked well until the sun faded the paint and the glue cementing the quarter-round lost it's adherence)"

"I well recall...the glass was a tight fit and it took two to get it into place...one-two-three-fingers away and push! ...my right hand and little finger was still there when the 'push' came! I still have the scar!"

...when we first went to the parish the drive after the 10:00am. service at St. James to the 11:30am. service at St. George's (Minnow Lake) was quite a challenge. Paris Street in the early sixties, was narrow and winding and the CPR tracks were crossed at the iron bridge. Negotiating those turns provided quite a thrill....

Gas leak sends choir to hospital

BY BOB VAILLANCOURT
Star Staff Writer

Six members of the St. James Anglican church choir who accidentally inhaled carbon monoxide were expected to be back in Sudbury today after spending time in a decompression chamber at Toronto General Hospital.

The six were at the Paris Street church for a choir practice Thursday night when they smelled what they thought was a gas leak.

The church has a relatively new furnace, said Geoff Woodcroft, whose wife Jennifer Sisco is the church's parish priest and one of those taken to hospital.

A gas company was called and "within minutes had evacuated the building and called the fire department," said Woodcroft. The fire department had the gas shut off and a local contractor was called to adjust the furnace installation.

Sent for blood tests

When told to evacuate the building, some of the six left for home, said Sudbury Fire Department Platoon Chief Jacques Bouffard. Later, they were contacted and advised to go to the St. Joseph's Health Centre for carbon monoxide blood tests.

One person appeared to suffer the effects of the gas more than the others, said Bouffard. That individual lost consciousness for a period and was taken immediately to hospital.

When tests were conducted on the other five, all six showed high levels of carbon monoxide poisoning.

About 1 a.m. Friday, all six were flown by air ambulance to Toronto General where they went through the process of decontamination, said Woodcroft.

At least two people had been in the church for at least half an hour, said Woodcroft.

Please see VICTIMS / A6

Victims expected to make full recovery

The other four were there for lesser amounts of time.

"It is really important that people realize that it's just a couple of weeks and you can get yourself into problems," he said.

As far as he knows, said Woodcroft, the victims are not expected to suffer long-lasting effects from the incident.

Five were flown back to Sudbury on Friday by air ambulance and underwent final blood testing at St. Joseph's Health Centre.

The sixth person appeared to have made a later air ambulance flight out of Toronto Friday before Pearson International Airport was closed due to bad weather, said Woodcroft.

If the sixth person was unable to get out of Toronto, he added, the parish was going to make arrangements for that person to stay over until the airport reopened.

Dr. Robert Lepage and his colleagues at St. Joseph's Health Centre and nursing staff, including Nancy Horn, Helen Armstrong and Jane Sauve, all merit our grateful thank you. There are likely others we have not mentioned who are no less important to us.

We thank all who have called to enquire about the well-being of our choir members.

And persons who have invited us to join them for services during the temporary closure of our church; the AA groups who demonstrated understanding when suddenly told their usual meeting location was temporarily unavailable.

All incidents have some ramifications, ours has resulted in a lesson well-earned . . . "take nothing nor no one for granted," and the immediate installation of four carbon monoxide monitors. Our choir following their experience in the hyperbaric chamber in Toronto may now refer to themselves as the "St. James Chamber Singers."

Our doors are open once more. Thank you all.

MARION GUESNEL

Lessons were learned from near disaster

Dear Editor:

Although not intentional, it is not unusual to overlook our emergency services when discussing community assets, such as lakes, parks, industry, and so on.

Recently, emergency services were needed at St. James Anglican Church on Paris Street. Carbon monoxide was present in the church and it seriously affected six of our choir members.

Emergency services responded quickly and with skills that are only acquired through experience and training.

We thank any and all who worked at the church — Ivan Picard, duty chief Station 4, Ray Bechard, platoon chief, and all the firefighters in attendance.

The Union Gas supervisor was Don Van Daele. We especially thank them for their insisting the remaining five choir members attend at the hospital for blood checks (one had already).

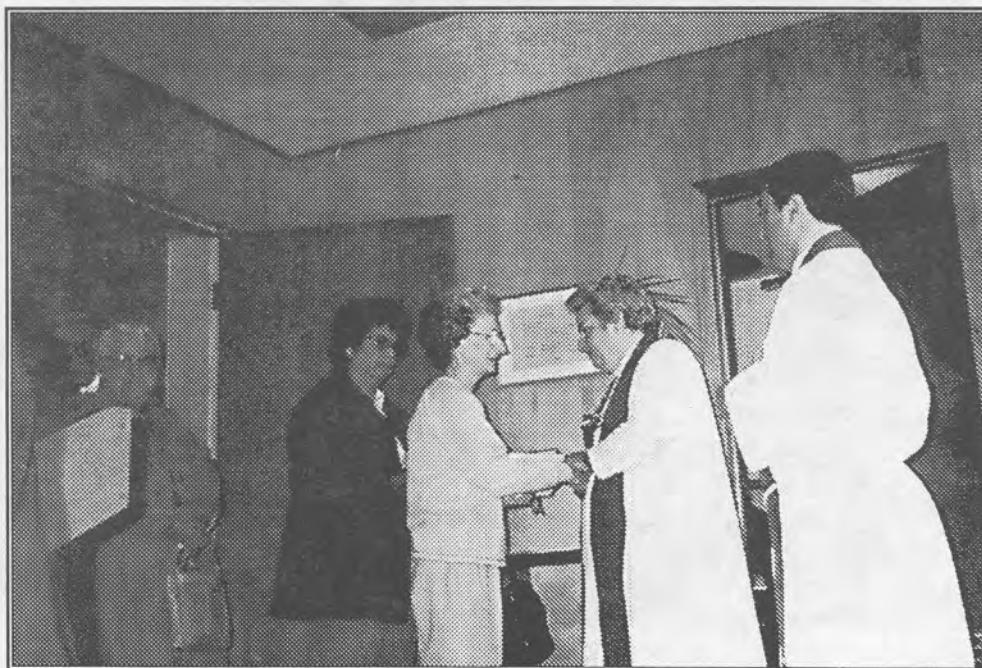

The calmness and positive sense of humour displayed by our firefighters greatly assisted through a near-tragic situation.

To quote one of them, "We were blessed."

Two planes were needed for the flights to Toronto, thus two air ambulance crews worked overtime beginning about 1 a.m. or 2 a.m., in frigid weather. Unfortunately, we do not have the pilots' names.

NOTES

We would like to thank the many persons who assisted in putting this book of Past and Present Memories together. All who offered information, and assisted with research. Especially Grace Honeyford who worked diligently to correlate the great number of photos and written material given to her. Barbara Nangle for visiting the archives and bringing back information no longer easily available. To the very patient who answered questions, often many times over; who supplied their personal photos, and stories.

Last but not least Marion Searle, who donated her time, and her camera, thus ensuring that a visual record of the people of St. James in the year 2000 will be available when we celebrate 100 years of Ministry in the Lockerby area..
