

(official denial) trade value in progress'

(official denial) trade value in progress' is an interactive project co-activated by artist Leah Decter and curator Jaimie Isaac. Since 2010 the project has invited Aboriginal and non-Aboriginal people to consider reconciliation, decolonization and our colonial past and present by responding to Stephen Harper's 2009 statement 'we also have no history of colonialism'. Those attending are invited to view the piece and to participate in the project by sewing and writing their responses.
